Travel Talk By Hall Ross At Exchange

Dancing Class Add To Evening's Program

Members of the Redwood City Exchange Club were given an interesting talk at the regular meeting of the club Tuesday evening by Hall C. Ross, Redwood City attorney. The speaker recently returned from a trip of several months spent in the Orient as a member of the party from the San Francisco chamber of comerce, which chartered the Malolo for a tour of the lands bordering the Pacific.

Stops were made in Japan, China, Java, Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii, the Philippines and other Oceanic countries. All the points of interest visited were interestingly and graphically portrayed in a word picture for the clubmen by the attorney.

An added feature at the club's meeting was the dancing by ten girls from Mrs. Robertson's dancing class at the Sequoia Union High School. Girls taking part in the dancing were Eudele Murphy, Charlotte Rider, Helen Maninat, Enid Mays, Flora Basso, Genevieve Cunnigham, Marion McLachlan, Alice Graham, Bessie Lambrook and Jane Meade.

Roy Bissell gave an interesting account of the life of Stonewall Jackson, the great Confederate soldier, whose birth anniversary is celebrated this month, and Bob Murphy gave a brief sketch of his own life.

The chairman of the evening was Al Robertson.

SEQUOIA AND PALY TO TANGLE TONIGHT

By P. E. L.

Local basketball fans will travel to Palo Alto tonight looking forward to the usual speedy, close and hard-fought games that have marked the contests between the two schools in the past.

Last year Sequoia not only helped "Paly" dedicate their new gym but almost ruined whatever championship hopes Palo Alto had for their teams when Sequoia trounced Paly's 130's and came within one point of tying their highly touted unlimiteds in one of the hardest fought games between the two rivals.

Sequoia lightweights seem to have a slight edge while Paly is favored in the unlimited match. The starting line-up for Sequoia, according to Coach Griffien will be:

130's

Forwards, Dilard, (capt), Britschgi; center, McCarthy; guards, Shine, Bugge.

Unlimiteds

Forwards, Lutji, (capt.), Sepulveda; center, DeLacy; guards, Stilleson, Stacy.

The first game starts at 7:45.

Talking Pictures Shown to Masons

After the meeting of Redwood City Lodge No. 18 F. & A. M. next Thursday, the members of the lodge will be given an opportunity to hear and see the portable projector perfected by the Movietone Corporation. This is the first portable projector of talking pictures to be shown on the peninsula. It is the property of the Pacific Telephone Company and was secured for the lodge by Ray Maynard and C. I. Langford.

An interesting feature of the evening's meeting will be the presentation to John Ralston, pioneer Pescadero resident, of a pin by the Grand Lodge of Masons in commemoration of his fifty years' membership in the lodge.

Burlingame Editor Addresses Yomecans

One of the finest meetings that has thus far been held by the Yomecan Club was put on Wednesday evening at the Sequoia Hotel.

Wesley Haydock, retiring president, gave a short speech in which he reviewed the history of the club from the time of its inception about eight months ago. In a very impresive way he turned the gavel over to Edwin Brooks, the new president, and explained that the club by unanimous decision were banking on him to carry on even to greater successes.

In his speech the new president explained the things that he hoped would be accomplished in the next six months and asked for the fullest co-operation from each and every member in bringing these things to success.

The other newly elected officers were called upon for short speeches. These were, Bud Lambert, vice-president; Elvin A. Guglielmoni, treasurer; Adam Patterson, secretary; Elmer Steinke, historian; and Edward L. Greeley and Wesley Haydock, directors.

Carl Wagner and Dr. Wm. B. Langston gave short talks and words of praise of the splendid work of the club.

Three special musical numbers were very much appreciated. Clif Woodhams, Jr., gave a trumpet solo and George Cawthron, a flute solo. Bob Letts gave a novelty number.

Al Cargill, editor of the Burlingame Advance, was the main speaker of the evening. His subject was "Snapshots of the Presidents of the U. S." In his talk he brought out many points of special interest about the various presidents that the average person has had little opportunity of learning about. One of his points was that although Washington was the first president of the U. S., we had a vice-president who took the oath of office several days before Washington became president. Mr. Cargill had many personal observations and contacts with the presidents which made his speech doubly interesting.

George T. Moore New Manager of Ward Store Here

Stock To Be Larger In All Stores, He Says

G. T. Moore, who for several years has been connected with the territorial office of Montgomery Ward in Oakland, has been placed in charge of the Redwood City branch of that institution, succeeding Philip Seagrave. The new manager took charge here last week. He will be joined today by Mrs. Moore and their two children.

In taking over the new store, the manager said, "We will be able to offer to the people of Redwood City this year even better service than before. The expansion program of Montgomery Ward last year included the opening of about 250 stores. This caused a serious drain upon the warehouses and the factories which supply us with goods so that it was hard to keep up the stock in the individual stores as it should be. This program is about completed and from now on the stock in the store will be kept up to the full requirements of the community."

Kiwanians Hear Talk by Artist

Talk Illustrated By Drawings Made With Chalk

Members of the Redwood City Kiwanis Club enjoyed an unusual and entertaining meeting Wednesday when Elmer Gandy, evangelist and artist, delivered an address on the psychology of color. Gandy's talk was illustrated by pastel drawings made by him while he lectured, and was also featured by his singing.

The pictures were made more interesting by a clever arrangement of colored lights by which a single scene could be made to take on the appearance of mid-day, twilight, early morning or moonlight.

The speaker was obtained by the club through Rev. C. H. Gatchel, pastor of the Baptist church, where Rev. Gandy is coducting an evangelistical mission. The chairman of the meeting was Z. T. Thorning.

A report on the district convention held in Santa Cruz last Saturday was given by Carl Wagner, the club's district trustee.

Weed In Hay Is Found Cause Of Milk Decrease

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23—(UP) — Another weed pest, known to the Indians of early California as a means of poisoning arowheads and inducing stupor in fish, has come to the attention of the state department of agriculture.

Milk production decrease in southern California herds has been traced to presence of the weed, known as turkey mullein, in hay, according to L. M. Jeffers, chief of the bureau of field crops.

The weed is found from Tehama county to Mexican line. Sometimes known as "dove weed" it has a decidedly toxic quality when eaten by cattle, Jeffers said. Falling off of milk production may be as high as 45 per cent. Cattle will not eat the wed even when they are hungry, but when mixed with hay they fail to detect it.

SUIT FILED IN DAVIS ESTATE

A suit filed by one brother and six sisters was on record this week against one sister and two brothers. The suit was filed by seven of the children of the late Antone Davis, coastside resident, who died in Alameda, on December 24. The suit is the result of a deed of gift given by Davis to Mrs. Minnie Moller, one of his daughters, to a 20-acre tract near Halfmoon Bay.

The plaintiffs in the action are, Mrs. Rose M. Finigan, Mrs. Mary G. Bent, Mrs. Louise Hayes, Mrs. Florence Andreada, Mrs. Josephine Musil, Mrs. Caroline Hibbs and Joseph A. Davis, sisters and a brother of Mrs. Moller.

Two other brothers, Antone and Frank Davis are also named as defendants in the action.

SALVATION ARMY IN ITS ANNUAL APPEAL

The Salvation Army is conducting its annual appeal at this time for funds in Redwood City in the interest of its Rescue Home and orphanage cases. Redwood City, it is pointed out by the local workers, benefits from both of these institutions.

Solicitations is being made in the residential districts by two uniformed Salvationists during the evenings.

Artist-Evangelist Here

The Rev. Elmer Gandy, Artist, Evangelist and Entertainer, Now Conducting Services At First Baptist Church

Elmer Gandy, evangelist, entertainer and artist, and a man of unusual and varied talents, is conducting an evengelistical mission at the First Baptist church of this city. The evangelist in addition to his other accomplishments is a singer of ability and his sermons are interesperced with song and illuminated by illustrations in color drawn while he talks.

The series of meetings began last week and will continue until February 2. Meetings are being held every evening except Saturday at 7:30. The Baptist church is at the corner of Heller and Elm streets. The Rev. C. H. Gatchel is pastor of the church. The meetings are open to all.

Roy A. Hohberger, of the local Y. M. C. A., gave a short talk on some interesting events in our relations with China. A special game of stampic interest was put on as a finale.

Five Hurt As Autos Crash On El Camino Real

Five people, all of San Francisco, were injured, one rather seriously, when two automobiles crashed on El Camino Real, between Buckingham and Dumbarton avenues, at the southerly limits of Redwood City about 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The most seriously injured is Miss Betty Warren, 260 Crescent avenue, who is in the Palo Alto hospital with with a broken rib and severe bruises and abrasions. The others in the cars and who escaped without serious injuries were:

James Fitzgerald, 448 Pennsylvania avenue, driver of one of the cars; George D. Wilson, 3308 Mission street, driver of the other car, and Otto Berry, 3221 21st street, and Aileen O'Neill, 328 Clement street.

According to Harry Perry, Redwood City student, who witnessed the crash, the accident occured when Fitzgerald, who was driving south on the highway, "cut in" to pass another machine going in the same direction, and crashed into the car driven by Wilson, which was travelnorth, and which contained the other three people. The Wilson car turned completely over and the occupants were thrown onto the highway. The five injured were taken to the Palo Alto hospital, where it was found Miss Warren was the only one seriously hurt.

Officer H. J. Fitzgerald of the Redwood City police department, investigated the crash and his report showed that the Fitzgerald car was in the northbound traffic lane when the accident occured. Officer William Reilly of the State Traffic Department, also made a report on the accident.

Commissioner To Relinquish Post; Is Claim

Rumors at Capitol Say Barnson To Resign

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23—(UP) — It's whispered reliably that the resignation of Stephen Barnson, state real estate commissioner, will be submitted to Governor Young within a couple of months.

The story is that Barnson and the administration have come to a parting of the ways on the question of issuing a license to C. A. "Cappy" Ricks, Martinez real estate dealer. Ricks has been fighting for a license since Barnson denied his application in 1929.

Last week the administration announced the appointment of Fred Athearn, personal friend of the governor and state corporation commissioner, to be judge of the hearing, which was also reopened. This is regarded as a gentle swat on Barnson's wrist by the administration, and his resignation is expected at any time now.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Winiger left yesterday for Oakland to attend the convention of the Master Painters Association. They will be away for three days.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Donnelly spent several days of last week in Los Angeles, where they combined business and pleasure.

Four prizes will be offered; one to the best essay submitted by a grammar school pupil; one to the best essay submitted by a high school student; and one by a man and one by a woman. A committee consisting of Joseph Baughn, Al Davies, Gordon Seeley and George McQueen was appointed to work out the provisions of the contest.

A set of by-laws submitted to the association was unanimously adopted. A committee consisting of Alfred Whiting, Roy Bissell and Walter Hilton was appointed to call on and invite all merchants of Redwood City to the next meeting of the association, which will be held next Monday.

Big Spectical At Horse Show

Los Angeles Man To Bring Horses To Oakland

One of the spectacular and colorful features of the Fifth Annual Oakland Horse Show in the Oakland Auditorium arena February 3 to 8, will be the appearance of twenty-two beautiful stock horses owned by Marco H. Heliman, Los Angeles banker and sportsman.

Oakland horseshow patrons will remember well the beautiful string of Palominos which Heilman exhibited, with their fine trappings and excellent riders dressed in picturesque leather chaps, big sombreros and colorful silk handkerchiefs tied about their throats.

This year, however, the Los Angeles banker and sportsman has a surprise i nstore for the horse show patrons, having recently acquired fourteen coal-black horses which will make their appearance in the ring with saddles and bridles havily mounted with silver, and ridden by fourteen prominent business men and sportsmen of Southern California. Heilman is bringing a party of his friends with him to take part in the show, according to word received by A. Mouel-Fenton manager at the horse show headquarters in the Hotel Oakland.

The magnificent black horses will enter the show ring in single file, preceded by a standard bearer, carrying a large silk American flag, and followed by another horseman bearing the California Bear Flag. Immediately behind him will be Miss Marcoreta Heilman, daughter of the owner of the stock horses, who will be dressed in a beautiful Spanish-California costume of white leather and silk, and riding a beautiful white horse. Her father, Marco Heilman, will ride beside her on a jet-black horse. Behind them wil follow a string of foruteen back horses, half of their riders being dressed in colorful Spanish-Californian costumes much as the early Dons might have worn, and the remaining half wearing smartly fashioned evening clothes, with gleaming shirt fronts and tall silk hats. Surely a remarkable presentation of the past and present.

Heilman is bringing his stock horses here at his own personal expense, to provide additional color and atmosphere.

In addition to his exhibition, he will show four of his state champions, not in open competition, but to decide the grand champion of his stable. The prize of $220 which he has sponsored for this class, will be donated by Heilman to charity.

He is also sponsoring a $500 stake for stock horses. In this stake event his horses will not compete but all of the great stock horses except those from his own stable, will take part in this event ,it is announced.

Heilman is the founder of the Los Angeles National Horse Show, vice-president of the National Horse at Madison Square Garden, New Yark, and has, over a period of twenty years, given his time, money and energy to develop and promote the California stock horse of which he is a great admirer.

The magnificent equipment which is used on his great string of stock is worth thousands of dollars. The saddles and bridles are all mounted with solid silver. The mountings are of old silver which it has taken him years to collect and have hammered into the saddles and bridles. He has thirty-five of these outfits, each one insured for $5000.

Knights of Columbus Planning for Smoker

San Mateo Council Knights of Columbus will hold its annual smoker and boxing carnival in the Knights of Columbus Hall, San Mateo, next Monday evening.

Heading the list of entertainers is J. W. McTarnahan, retired lightweight champion of the northwest, who now operates the San Mateo Pharmacy in San Mateo. McTarnahan has an outstanding record, having been trained by Eddie O'Connell, former welterweight champion of the world and Ted Thye, present light weight champion of the world. He has wrestled for the Multonomah Club of Portland and Spokane Athletic Club of Spokane, and for two years was wrestling coach at Northwestern University.

In 1919 he defeated Ernest Miller for the championship of the northwest and for the following four years was not defeated by any lightweight. Since coming to California he has defeated Pete Buzkus, former welterweight champion of the world, and many other mat artists.

McTarnahan will entertain the fans at the Knight of Columbus smoker by demonstating some of the famous holds of the past and present masters of the art of wrestling. He will also give a fifteen minute wrestling exhibition with Bartley Scanlon, who is now training to enter the Olympic games. In addition to this wrestling talent, Jack Forsythe and Art Tyo, who are promoting the affair for the Knights, have arranged for four attractive boxing bouts and several numbers of singing and other entertainment.

The affair is open to all Knights of Columbus and their friends.

Death came rather suddenly and was a great shock to the members of her family and friends.

Mrs. Hazen was a sister of Mrs. W. A. Langley of Woodside. In addition to her sister, she also leaves three brothers, George Steinberg of La Honda, Harry Steinberg of Pescadero and Edward Steinberg of Santa Barbara.

FORMER SHERIFF'S WILL FILED HERE

The last will and testament of J. H. Hatch, who died last week at his home in Burlingame, was filed for probate yesterday. The instrument was written in his own hand on August 31, 1891. By the terms of the will the entire estate is bequeathed to his widow. She is named executrix to serve without bonds. The petition for letters testamentary states that the value of the estate is over $10,000. Those in a position to know say it will reach the half million mark. T. H. Limpert is the attorney for the executrix. The deceased was sheriff of the county for two terms.

Survey Work Progressing On Highway Project

Engineering Soon To Be Completed By Kneese

Work is proceeding repidly on the survey for the widening El Camino Real from San Mateo to the county line on the south. The survey is to determine the necessary setback lines for property along the highway. The survey is more than half completed, according to County Engineer George Kneese, who is in charge of the work, but the final report will not be complete for several months.

A field crew had this week completed the survey to the northern limits of Redwood City. Two weeks have already been spent by draftsmen in Kneese's office in preparing the data.

The report on the west side of the highway is being completed first, because the citizen's body that urged the survey argued that the increasing number of residents settling west of the highway made this problem the more important.

The proposed setback involves five municipalities — Belmont, San Carlos, Redwood City, Menlo Park and Atherton. Municipal governments of all these cities have pledged aid.

Once Kneese's report is ready, the highway-widening association, the state highway commission and interested municipalities will commence a study to determine policy in condemnation of the land.

It may be decided to take the necessary strip for widening entirely from one side, or divide it on both sides of the highway, Kneese said.

Following that financing of the widening must be considered.

There is very possibility that when the widening is undertaken in San Mateo county it will be continued into Santa Clara county by the highway commission.

The commission has already acquired land in Menlo Park for widening the road across the San Francisquito creek bridge. It is the plan of the commission to straighten out the curve just south of the bridge when the widening is started.

Indian Registrar Returns to S. F.

Fred A. Baker, examiner, department of the interior, who has been holding enrollment hearings at the county courthouse during the past ten days, has transferred his activities to San Francisco. He will be at Room 114, State building, civic center, San Francisco, from January 24th to February 8th, where he will assist and advise all persons who desire to file applications for enrollment as descendants of California Indians. As has been announced heretofore in the press, the present enrollment of the Indians of California relates to the suit which they have filed against the United States in the United States Court of Claims, Washington, D. C., to recover the sum of $12,800,000 as damages for deprivation of rights under the old treaties of 1851 and 1852.

Any person living in San Mateo county who failed to get enrolled may see the examiner at the time and place above indicated. After completing his work in San Francisco county, he will proceed to Alameda county, and to other counties in the bay region, due announcement of which will appear later in the press. Fifty claimants were enrolled by the examiner during the past ten days.

A dance will be given tomorrow evening in the Odd Fellows hall by the Booster Committee of the Redwood City lodge. The arrangements are being made by a committee headed by Joe Gibson. Music for the dance will be furnished by O'Connor's orchestra.

Arsenic in New Fields

Arsenic, arch-foe of insect pests, is spreading out in its activities, seeking new fields to conquer. During 1928, while 60 per cent of the arsenic output of the country went into insecticides, 25 per cent was used for weed-killers and wood preservatives. The glass industry took 11 per cent more, requiring, like the insecticide industry, only highest grade arsenic.

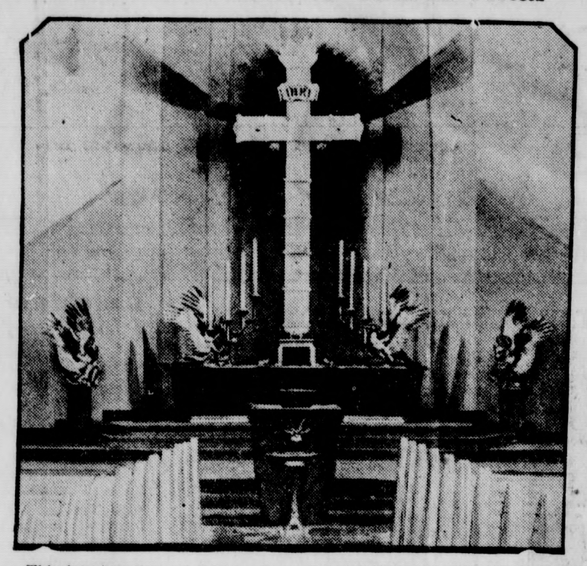
Modernistic Idea of Church Altar



This interior view of Germany's newest and highly modernistic Evangelical Lutheran church at Schmargendorf shows the unusual altar with its cross of Meissner porcelain measuring about seventeen feet in height. Airship Expected to Lower Record

Atlanta, Ga.—Some time next spring when the elements between Los Angeles and New York return to normalcy, Doug Davis, crack Atlanta pilot, expects to fly the distance in about twelve hours.

The record, now held by Capt. Frank Hawks, is close to seventeen hours.

But that fact apparently offers little obstacle to the man who recently clipped three hours from the record of the trip from New York to Atlanta.

He used a Travelair "Mystery" ship—a bullet-like monoplane which looks like a bumble bee upside down but which functions with unprecedented efficiency.

Davis won the cup for America's most meritorious flyer of 1929 in the same projectilelike craft at the Cleveland air races. He was in New York early in November and wanted to enter it in an air race in Atlanta.

So he took breakfast in Gotham and lunch in Georgia, actually flying the 800 miles in four hours and thirty minutes through rain and fog. The entire trip required five hours, with two stops of fifteen minutes each for fuel.

Davis believes his "Mystery" ship has greater possibilities than any similar craft extant, believes its highly developed maneuver ability and excessive speed would make it an invulnerable fighting unit in time of war.

He recently said that shortly he expected to open its throttle somewhere in the vicinity of the ground, point its nose "absolutely straight up," and cut swiftly heavenward for one solid mile at an angle of 180 degrees.

Already he has climbed to 3,000 feet in that manner after a 250-mile-an-hour start. Present equipment of the plane, he said, does not permit more altitude because of gas tank adjustment, which he expects to alter.

The plane can take off at an angle greater than 45 degrees and hold it "all the way to the ceiling," Davis said. "I believe it is unquestionably the fastest climbing plane ever built."

It is an open cockpit affair and responds so swiftly to the controls that a sudden change of direction will produce temporary blindness for the pilot. That happened in the Cleveland races, Davis said, when he rounded a pylon too abruptly.

A nine-cylinder motor of 300 horse power twirls the plane's 22 degree pitch propeller 2,300 revolutions per minute and propels the whole craft more than 250 miles an hour.

"A novice is out of place at its controls, but it is perfectly safe in the hands of an experienced pilot," he said.

Evil communications corrupt good words. Every decent word used as a substitute for a bad one finally loses its decency.

Deafness in Insects

The sense of hearing was the last of the five senses to be developed in the great scheme of evolution. Few insects can hear. Even the highest types of insects, such as ants and bees, are deaf although the senses of sight, smell and touch are very keen. Flies are also deaf.

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.

Death for Eskimo "Purifier"

Winnipeg.—Believed by the North west Mounted Police authorities to have been a victim of a recurrence of the wave of religious mania which swept over this lonely land about ten years ago, a young Eskimo inhabitant of the interior of the southern portion of Baffin land became demented and shot and killed his parents and a young woman relation.

He shot at but missed his brother. The Eskimo tribe of which he was formerly a law abiding member kept him in close confinement through a long winter, but in the spring, after he had twice escaped their vigilance, they pushed him through a hole and drowned him beneath the ice of the subarctic.

Sergt. J. E. F. Wight, in charge of the detachment at Lake Harbor, reported that last winter, accompanied by Constable P. Dersch, he made a long patrol through a section of southern Baffin island, where white men were unknown before the great war He learned the story from the tribe in which the tragedy occurred.

The report stated that Mako Gliak, a young man, became obsessed with the idea he was a purifier of his race. He told his relatives he had heard a voice from heaven telling him to kill all his people. He promptly proceeded to put his mission into operation.

As Mako was obviously under a spell the Eskimos did not know what to do with him. The nearest post, Lake Harbor, was 500 miles away, and they had no means of making such a long journey with a madman.

They bound him up with thongs of sealskin and kept him under guard in an igloo all winter. About March of the following year members of the tribe decided that they could not keep him any longer. They told police that the men of the tribe were all worn out by this time in maintaining a sharp vigilance lest Mako should escape and continue his crazy plan.

They summoned him before a meeting of the whole family one day and told him he had to die. They gave him his choice of the manner of death. He could be shot, stabbed or drowned—whichever he preferred.

But Mako did not wish to die, they told police. However, his end was decided upon, and a hole was made in the ice. He was pushed through this and river currents carried him to his death.

Westminster Loses Favorite "Cop"

London.—This is a story about a big man with a big record, about weights, lengths, measures, parliamentary procedure and dignified physical scuffles in the house of commons. In brief, about George Fulcher, weight 294 pounds, twenty years a policeman in the palace of Westminster.

Fulcher has retired. Fulcher not only was the most popular member of the parliamentary police staff, but also the most impressive. When he trod down the long medieval, dimly lighted corridors the whole British empire, with the possible exception of Australia, knew about it.

He was particularly useful in the event of an occasional row within the sacred precincts of the house All Fulcher had to do was to walk right into the dozen or so rioters and it was then only a question of the old irresistible force against whatever object stood in the way.

Fulcher knew hundreds, thousands, even, of M. P.s, for it must be recalled that Fulcher was a fixture in the house of commons while M. P.s are not. But Stanley Baldwin probably could tell you more about it.

House of commons police have a bigger beat to cover than many of the metropolitan police out on the streets. They have two miles of corridors to cover on each floor. In some respects the house is like the Grand Central station. There are shops where one may buy postal cards. There are innumerable restaurants for all manner of folk. There are visitors' restaurants, members' restaurants and employees' restaurants.

Then there are innumerable tearooms, and, in the words of a prominent lady M. P., all bad.

All these things tend to make Fulcher yearn for his old job. So much so that according to recent reports the former big man of the house has become a mere shadow of his former self and is said to weigh but a mere 280 pounds, having lost a full stone since he left the dignified portals of Westminster palace.

Passes Up Chevrons to Return to Horses

Fort Bliss, Texas.—"Once a cavalryman, always a cavalryman," is the explanation Henry M. McCloskey gives of his desire for a transfer which meant the loss of his sergeant's ranking and some $40 a month.

The sergeant of the armored car brigade said as much in requesting the change of his superior officers. He had served in the horse troop for six years. A year ago, when the armored cars were brought to Fort Bliss, he was transferred to them.

"I've always had a hankering to get back to horses," McCloskey admitted. "You can't get the same satisfaction riding a bumping machine of iron and rubber."

Now he is with troop F, Eighth cavalry, buck private, and happy.

ENDURANCE TESTS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I suppose that even in pre-historic and pre-civilization times human beings vied with each other to see which could the longer endure certain physical or mental strains though never more so than now. Sometimes, possibly, there was virtue and progress in such contests; sometimes there was only the satisfaction of vanity or the winning of a prize contributed by those who are willing to give prizes to see some one else suffer, or make a fool of himself in testing his endurance. The athletic contest of today is often little more than an endurance test.

When I was a boy we used often to see who could hold his breath the longest under water. So far as I could see then or even now with the widened perspective of intervening years, there was no advantage to anyone either then or later, in one's holding his breath an unbelievable period of time, excepting as one could boast about doing without oxygen longer than the other boys.

I have just read in the evening paper an account of a man in Colorado, who, for the good of his body or his soul, had fasted for a full calender month, and had reduced his weight by half, and out-fasted all of his competitors. It is true that when he broke his fast he did so with such eagerness that it resulted in his death. It must have been a great satisfaction to him, however, to realize that he had been able to do without food longer than any of his friends.

For years we had ambitious people risking their lives and their health in an attempt to swim the English channel. Finally some super-human individual succeeded, and now it is no feat at all to swim across this rather turbulent water way. Why anyone should want to do it, and what virtue or good of any sort there is in the feat when it has been accomplished, I cannot see.

Just recently a fellow townswoman of mine won a rocking contest. For an impossible number of days and nights with only brief intervals for rest, she sat in a rocking chair keeping up a constant motion while neighbors and curious onlookers bet on the outcome, or paid to see how long she could keep up the agitation. And now I am told she is staging rocking marathons. Of what value such a contest can be to society or to the human race I fail to see.

There may be some value in seeing how long an airplane can remain in the air without fueling, or how fast a horse or an automobile can get over the ground, but how many hours or days two people can dance, for instance, without food or sleep, seems to me of no value or real interest to anyone.

Millions of Children in China Illiterate

Peiping, China.—Three million Chinese children in Hopei province alone are unable to read or write in their own or any other language, the department of education of the province reports.

The department urges institution of compulsory education for all children as soon as possible, but estimates that such a program would require $30,000,000 at the start, and as the province has been barely able to meet ordinary administrative expenses, it is not believed that a real beginning can be made in the near future.

As a temporary measure, the department suggests that compulsory education be started first in large cities, where the people may be able to afford it.

Perhaps Here's Where Modernist Art Started

Carlsbad, N. M.—A painted grotto, colorful as an Indian blanket has just been found in the Guadalupe mountains, New Mexico. A race, extinct 40 centuries ago, used this huge niche in the canyon wall for a living room.

In the half-light were discerned a strange medley of paintings—red, yellow, white, black—along the wall for 80 feet. Both the side and a portion of the ceiling are covered.

A 40-foot serpent was outlined in a series of small white triangles stretched horizontally, other large snakes, in solid yellow, run from floor to ceiling. Paintings of other similar reptiles appear to have been started, but left unfinished.

Flat blocks of rocks, the size of a billiard table, lie along the floor; corn was ground on these.

"Lucile is the Happiest Girl"

So many mothers nowadays talk about giving their children fruit juices, as if this were a new discovery. As a matter of fact, for over fifty years, mothers have been accomplishing results far surpassing anything you can secure from home prepared fruit juices, by using pure, wholesome California Fig Syrup, which is prepared under the most exacting laboratory supervision from ripe California Figs, richest of all fruits in laxative and nourishing properties.

It's marvelous to see how bilious, weak, feverish, sallow, constipated, under-nourished children respond to its gentle influence; how their breath clears up, color flames in their cheeks, and they become sturdy, playful, energetic again. A Western mother, Mrs. H. J. Stoll, Valley P. O., Nebraska, says: "My little daughter, Roma Lucile, was constipated from babyhood. I became worried about her and decided to give her some California Fig Syrup. It stopped her constipation quick; and the way it improved her color and made her pick up made me realize how run-down she had been. She is so sturdy and well now, and always in such good humor that neighbors say she's the happiest girl in the West."

Like all good things, California Fig Syrup is imitated, but you can always get the genuine by looking for the name "California" on the carton.

Not Guilty!

The verdict was "Guilty!" The evidence of guilt was indisputable; a hardened criminal; eye-witnesses; an offense against society. Sentence—life imprisonment.

One more human being segregated from society, to lead a penitentiary life for a crime which could not be undone.

Few in the court room that day realized the most important factors of the case; that this criminal act had not been an unpremeditated offense; it did not occur without a series of lesser crimes preceding it, leading up to its immensity. The prisoner had not stepped from an honest, industrious, law-abiding citizen, with one sudden act, into the role of criminal outcast.

His evolution followed in the footsteps of practically every criminal. The beginning of his crime dated back to early influences; school and boyhood companions; the community influence on his youthful mind; the opportunity to become congenially and successfully engaged in a useful, profitable occupation.

That is the story of crime. It has its roots in small beginnings. CRIME DOES NOT FIND A FERTILE SPOT FOR ITS VICIOUS ROOTS IN A GOD-FEARING, LAW-ABIDING COMMUNITY! A community where LAW AND LAW ENFORCEMENT are honored and respected!

It takes more than an efficient law enforcement unit. It takes the support of every individual citizen to make a one hundred per cent law-abiding community.

Are WE neglecting OUR SHARE in the minor law observances? Let's see that the verdict is NOT GUILTY!

An honest, law-abiding reputation is an important community asset and is worth much to us in

Few Persons Today Who Are Not In A Position To Save Money

By S. W. STRAUS,
President American Society for Thrift

STUDENTS of economic conditions in this country tell us that poverty is steadily being eliminated through the processes of education. There was a time within the memory of many now living when dire poverty existed in every city, if not in every community. The general standard of living has been steadily advancing for the last fifty years and conditions are such today that there is hardly a person anywhere who is not in a position to save money if he chooses.

This does not mean all who are able to save are doing so. There are many who do not.

Numerous persons excuse themselves from practicing thrift on the plea that they cannot save anything and maintain a good standard of living. While it may be true in some isolated cases that circumstances over which they have no control make it impossible for them to get ahead in the world, these instances are exceptional.

The old saying, "Where there's a will, there's a way," applies with full force to the practice of saving money. Those who do not save or who think they cannot are not fair with themselves. They are unwilling to make certain sacrifices. Their minds are biased by false pride or egotism. Their viewpoint is incorrect.

If they should think the problem clear through they would determine to find ways by which they could save something even though the amounts be small.

Upon one's stability to find such ways of saving money, depends very much of one's chances of success in life.

This is a phase of the matter that should be given the deepest consideration. Also it should be borne in mind that those who are not sufficiently interested in their own welfare to lay by a certain portion of their earnings for the future do not care enough about real success ever to achieve any substantial place in the affairs of men.

Before there can be success there must be a desire to succeed. And this desire must be so deep that it overcomes every barrier.

Magic of Payrolls

THis is an expression of magical power and a favorite slogan for a newspaper on which to build a city.

The expression means a great deal for the community when coupled with the aspiration to be a home newspaper.

How can a citizen or even a modest local newspaper do more than to aspire to this ideal on which to build the community?

It means a great deal to help build a city on payroll or industrial lines.

A regular weekly salary brings cheer and stability to the family and the individual drawing it regularly.

Nothing brings that little touch of pride to man, woman or young person that goes with the regular pay check.

Ths newspaper desires to help build the community on these lines of consistent encouragement of payrolls.

What gives a greater sense of pleasure to a city and its population that consistent encouragement of payrolls?

Lock Your Car

An unlocked parked car is an invitation to an automobile thief to take it away . . . Locking your car is a simple easy precaution to take and it reduces to a minimum the chances of having the car stolen.

If you would be well-spoken-of, learn to speak well of others. And when you have learned to speak well of them, endeavor likewise to do well to them and thus you will reap the fruit of being well-spoken-of by them.—Epictetus.

Speaking 'Round the World

THE week has seen history made, not alone in the fact that five of the largest nations of the world have come together to discuss naval limitation and the practical method to foster universal peace, but in the fact that the deliberations of the delegates to the world-peace conference have been heard by more people, perhaps, than any other words ever spoken.

When the naval conference was opened by King George of England, his voice was heard in every quarter of the world. The last few years have seen the conquest of space; a conquest never dreamed of by Alexander with all of his longing for other worlds to conquer. Will the same generation see the conquest of war do away for ever with the outworn and barbarous theory of conquest by war?

Whether or not the London conference will mark the end of war, it will mark an epoch in human relationship when the leading nations of the world will get together and earnestly endeavor to find a substitute for battleships in international relations.

It is most fitting and appropriate that the talks of the delegates should be spread throughout the world by the radio to be heard wherever men may be. International relations depend upon international understanding, and the greatest ally to the London conference to secure international understanding will be found to be the fact that today people in every country can hear and understand what is going on in every other land.

Charles Lamb, the English essayist, when a friend mentioned the name of another man, said, "I hate that fellow." "Why?" asked his friend, "I didn't know you even knew him." "I don't," answered Lamb, "If I knew him, I coudn't hate him."

So with nations. When the American learns to understand the motives which actuate the inhabitant of another land, and the other fellow learns to judge the American by motive instead of by outward appearances, international accord will be on a firm and impregnable basis.

Adult Illiteracy Deplored By Educator

"AMERICAN life presupposes an educated public. Government, business, the prevention of pauperism, individual happiness, and self-respect all require that Americans have at least the elements of education. Until this is achieved neither our Government nor our economic system can reach its intended effectiveness," writes L. R. Alderman, of the U. S. Office of Education, in the United States Daily. He continued:

"The problem of education challenges every community. However optimistic the educator may feel over the progress that has been made in the last quarter of a century in the history of American education, he cannot feel complacent.

"Not only do we have with us a problem of illiteracy, sufficiently uncomfortable to give rise to the appointment of a national committee to study the whole aspect of it with a view to its speedy eradication, but we also have an adult population of unpleasant proportions functionally illiterate. It is this latter concourse which should enjoin the discriminating attention of Americans.

"Although illiteracy is proportionally higher in certain geographic areas, the lack of adult education of an elementary character is generally disarming. It is not only an educational problem to be solved, but it is a political obligation to eliminate such a challenging condition in our social life."

Two Kinds of Buildings

CONGRESS has already authorized appropriations of $248,000,000 for buildings throughout the states and $75,000,000 for structures to be erected in the national capital. It is estimated that an additional $175,000,000 will be requested during the present session of Congress. Only $1,500,000 is asked for by the bill, now pending in Congress, providing for the establishment of a national Department of Education, and this looks to the building of a greater American citizenship through the agency of the public schools.

Every body agrees that something must be done about crime and railroad grade crossings.

A community is like a baby carriage—it isn't worth much unless it's pushed.

Self is the only prison
That can ever bind the soul;
Love is the only angel
Who can bid the gates unroll.
—Van Dyke.

Salada Beach Residents Seek Coastside Road

On Sunday afternoon the directors and members of the Salada Beach Chamber of Commerce will hold their first annual meeting in the San Pedro school house at Salada Beach. Officers will be elected and projects for the improvement of Salada Beach during the coming year will be discussed.

The Salada Beach residents expect to devote themselves to obtaining early action on the Ocean Shore highway from San Francisco to Santa Cruz, which will throw open the most beautiful residential country in California along the edge of the Pacific ocean.

Anticipating the time when Salada Beach will become a millionaire colony, the chamber of commerce has requested the owners of undeveloped property to restrict building to high class residences, which will be a credit to the beauty of the coastside.

The nominating committee will bring in a report on the officers for the new year. The committee consists of J. E. Davy, Ray T. Higgins and Walter G. Swanson.

Last year's officers in Salada Beach Chamber of Commerce were Clarence J. Stafford, resigned, Walter Fryar, first vice-president; Archibald Craig, second vice-president; J. E. Davis, secretary-treasurer, and directors — Frank Chambers, U. P. Ross, M. O. Anderson, Ray T. Higgins, Mrs. Anna Reinhold and Adele C. Rotgers.

When A Cat Played Traffic Cop

One of the healthiest signs of the time is the frequent evidences of the greater consideration of the rights of the defenseless, particularly of dumb animals. On a recent visit to Pasadena, I saw a little white kitten control for fifteen minutes the traffic on one of the busiest thoroughfares in southern California.

In the early evening this hungry kitten found the remains of a squashed toad in the middle of the traffic lanes of San Gabriel boulevard. Determined to acquire for itself this tidbit, the kitten took up its station in the midst of the traffic in the glare from a hundred headlights. Dozens of cars swung dangerously into the other lane to avoid the little bunch of white fur. Horns tooted, men yelled "scat"; women shouted "shoo" but not the slightest heed paid the cat. Finally a pedestrian watching his opportunity dashed into the street and brought the cat back to the curb. But as soon as released, the cat returned to the delicacy and again the horns blew and the passengers screamed. Finally a woman driving a big Packard, pulled in to the curb, carefully lifted the forlorn kitten and placed it in the tonneau of her car, to carry it, let us hope, to a home where its exclusive diet would not be squashed toad.

Method Found To Remove Leprosy

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23—(UP) — In Biblical days a man afflicted with leprosy was a doomed person. But modern science has found a method of actually curing persons of the disease, and of some four lepers recently pronounced cured by the Federal Leprosarium at Carrville, La., one was from California.

This word was received by Eairl E. Jensen, director of the state department of institutions. The California man, whose name is withheld, was admitted in 1924. He has passed sufficient microscopic tests, the federal authorities said, to convince physicians that he is no longer a menace to his fellows, although further examinations are to be given every six months for the next year and a half.

Boy Scouts Will Observe Week Of Feb. 7 to 13

Anniversary of Scout Movement Is The Occasion

Boy Scout Anniversary Week will be celebrated this year during the week of February 7, through the 13th. February 7 will mark the observance of the 20th birthday of the Boy Scout movement in this country. Three events of outstanding importance to the nation will mark the celebration. On the evening of February 7th more than 1,800,000 Scouts and their leaders will stand at attention and rededicate themselves to the principles of the Sout Oath and Law. On February 7, in nearly every city and hamlet of the country, Scouts will mobilize to perform a community good turn. It will be a spectacular demonstration of the rapidity with which Scouts can be mobilized for emergency service at any time. On February 10 patriotic pilgrimages to the graves of presidents of the United States and to other places of historic interest will be taken by many Scouts.

At 8:15 o'clock on February 7 the rededication ceremonies will be observed. Every Scout, whereever he may be, will stand at attention and rededicate himself to the principles for which the Scout Oath and the Scout Law stand. Boy Scouts — Troop Scouts, Sea Scouts, Lone Scouts and Rural Scouts — representatives of every section of the country and of every type of American home will "Be Prepared" to pledge themselves anew to the ideals and objectives of the Scout movement, which in its 20 years of progress in this country has become the greatest organized effort on behalf of boys which history holds record.

This year's anniversary week will be of especial significance because, in addition to marking the 20th birthday of the Boy Scouts of America, it will also mark the 21st birthday of Scouting throughout the world. The Boy Scouts of America was incorporated in Washington, D. C., on February 8, 1910. In England the movement had been launched three years before by General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, its founder.

In observance of the celebration, Boy Scouts will wear their uniforms throughout the week, to school and in their homes.

Protection For Watersheds Asked

By ELWOOD SQUIRES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22—(UP) — Municipalities securing domestic water supply from mountain sources should protect watersheds surrounding their reservoirs in the opinion of Fred G. Stevenot, state director of the department of natural resources.

Declaring that a reservoir is no more valuable than the amount of vegetation which can be maintained on its watershed, Stevenot predicted future necessity for such protection.

"Millions are spent on building huge dams for impounding water and then not one cent is spent in protecting source of the water," the director asserted.

"A plan of control or ownership should be worked out in regard to these lands as a means of protecting our watersheds. Municipalities and irrigation districts might well consider this question as a feature of their water program.

"The state is vitally intrested in the whole question. No statewide plan of water conservation can be complete without taking into consideration the element of forestry. The influence of forestry upon ground erosion is a matter to be considered by the engineer in planning retaining reservoirs."

California cities spend millions to protect their homes from fire. But Stevenot pointed out that fire protection for the lands surrounding their water supplies is meagre at best.

"The cost of the adequate protection is relatively low as compared with the means necessary to protect city property against fire," he said.

"Within the confines of the national forests located in California, in an area of approximately 24,000,000 acres, with an estimated value of $300,000,000 in resources, there was expended for fire prevention and suppression an average of $698,638 per year during the past years. This represents an annual expenditure equal to .23 of one per cent on the value of resources or a cost of approximately 2.9 cents per acre.

"The state forest fire prevention figures, based upon the analysis of the highest cost of fire prevention and suppression in an area of 17,000,000 acres during the year 1928 represented an annual expenditure of .013 of one per cent of the total resource value, or a cost of 1.33 cents per acre. This low rate of cost suggests that our citizens undertake the support of an adequate forestry program to meet the state's needs."

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23—(UP)—Criminals who become drug addicts, appeal to the state for rehabilitation and then return to a life of crime when cured are creating a serious problem for California.

The state narcotics home at Spadra has hung out the "not wanted" sign for such persons, according to the governor's office. The state is willing to take a chance on a criminal who is in for the first time it is declared. But once discharged, if they resume a life of crime they can't be admitted again.

Wild Ride Ends In Crash With Tamale Parlor

A wild ride down the peninsula in a stolen car ended suddenly for Carl Gregg Tuesday when the highway proved too narrow for his maneuvers. Gregg was speeding south through Redwood City in an expensive car, found later to have been stolen in San Francisco the same day. When he came to Lincoln avenue he struck the guard rail, which protects the entrance to the bridge across the creek. Rebounding from this crash the car skuttled across the highway, striking in its wild course an electric pole in front of Stack's Tamale Parlor.

The pole was splintered by the heavy car, which continued to plunge across the sidewalk and ended up well within the tamale parlor. The front of the building was almost completely wrecked. Plate glass windows were shattered and the tile work which formed the front of the building, was crushed. The driver of the car escaped injury, but the machine was demolished by its wild course.

Officer Fitzgerald of the Redwood City police, was in a car on the highway, not far from the accident.

He placed Gregg under arrest for driving while drunk and also for illegal possession of liquor. Gregg will also have to face a charge of stealing a car.

The Redwood City Woman's Club will hold an afternoon card party in the club house on Clinton street, Thursday, January 30, at 2:30 p. m.

Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge No. 48, I. O. O. F., announces a card party in the Odd Fellows Hall Tuesday evening, February 4. The lodge wil hold an afternoon card party in the Odd Fellows Hall on February 18.

MENLO NOTES

Menlo Park Boy Made Vice-President of Bank of Italy

The Bank of Italy last week elected Charles P. Partridge, a former Menlo Park boy, vice president of the well-known bank. Partridge is a member of a pioneer family of Menlo Park. His grand father, the late P. M. Partridge, at one time owned a great portion of Stanford Park. Young Partridge joined the Bank of Italy staff following the consolidation with the Liberty Bank of America, of which institution he had been an executive since 1921. Partridge was with the American Artillery during the World War. Some years ago he married the beautiful niece of R. E. Miller, the man who established the Owl Drug Stores. Partridge has a summer home at Atherton, adjoining that of Mr. Miller on the Middlefield road.

Sister Mary Margaret Passes Awaya at Santa Rosa

Sister Mary Margaret, for many years connected with the Ursuline convent at Santa Rosa, passed away last Friday, following a slight stroke of paralysis suffered two years ago. The deceased was a sister of J H. Sullivan, the real estate operator of this city and Thomas Sullivan, capitalist. Sister Mary Margaret was born in Maine but had spent the greater portion of her life in California.

Graduating from the State Normal School at San Jose years ago, she began life as a teacher. Early in her career she became an Ursuline nun, going to Santa Rosa. When a branch convent was established in St. John's parish in San Francisco she was one of a number of nuns to open the institution, going back to Santa Rosa.

The deceased was a saintly and holy woman, giving the best portion of her life to the education of the youth of the state. The funeral on Monday was largely attended by her former pupils and the clergy of the diocese. The requiem mass was celebrated by Father Cassin, aged 83, and well -known in Menlo Park. He delivered a touching sermon on this occasion dwelling on the devotion and holiness of the deceased. Interment was at Santa Rosa.

Gernsuy Granted Permit To Build on Middle Avenue

The city council on Monday evening authorized the building inspector, J. J. Harcom, to grant a building permit to Mr. Gernsuy of the Mayfield Lumber Company, to erect a house on Middle avenue and University Way to cost $3800. Blake made the motion, seconded by Weeden, Walker voting no on the motion. Harcom contended that inasmuch as the lot was divided in two parcels that a permit should be denied. City Attorney Whitworth advised the council to grant it. It was given with considerable reluctance. Evidently there was a "nigger in the wood pile." It is said the proposed dwelling is to be occupied by colored people. Hence the opposition.

Bayshore Boulevard and El Camina Real Improvements

The residents of this section are pleased to learn that the State Highway Commission is preparing plans and specifications to build the Bayshore boulevard from Redwood City to the Embarcadero, back of Palo Alto. The money has been set aside for the work and just as soon as all the preliminaries are completed the contract for the work will be awarded. Engineers went over the route this week securing the necessary data to be incorporated in the advertising notice to contractors. It is believed that dirt will be flying in this portion of the highway by the middle of April. It is the policy of the commission to push all work on this project that the road may be completed to San Jose without dealy. Probably next week a start will be made on the San Mateo unit to Redwood City.

Much difficulty is to be encountered on this portion of the highway as considerable filling will have to be done over the marsh lands, but it is thought the road to Redwood City will be completed this year. From Redwood City on construction work will be easier as the road leaves the marsh and traverses level land with a solid bottom requiring no filling and only nominal grading. The underpass near Middlefield road is to be the largest task to be overcome but this will be finished in time so that travel on the unit may start some time next fall. Menlo Park is certain to feal the effects of the big travel over the new highway as some it may be diverted this way.

The commission has just awarded a contract to Hanrahan & Company to widen the highway from the San Francisquito creek bridge to a point below Mayfield. The San Francisquito creek bridge is to be widened to twenty-five feet. This is needed owing to the big travel over the span. Congestion at that point will be avoided thereby. It may not be long before work in aligning and widening the thoroughfare through town will be started. Engineers are busy working on the proposed improvement. It is the plan of the commission to widen the highway one hundred feet from San Francisco to San Jose and the sooner it is done, the better for the traveling public.

City Politics Begin To Simmer; Large List Willing To Make Race

The approaching campaign for city offices is assuming shape and soon candidates will come out in the open to declare their platforms. From present appearance there will be a large list of men willing to sacrifice themselves upon the altar of their country to become aspirants for trusteeships.

Among those who are spoken of as likely candidates are J. H. Sullivan. E. J. Crane. F. J. Furnivall, Adrian Ward, J. Carroll, Charles McGucken, James G. Mason, F. W. Johnson and James Hardgrove. Several women are also mentioned to take a hand in the "fracas." Mrs Kurtz, the city clerk, thus far has clear sailing as no one is mooted for the place. The incumbent trustees, no doubt, seek re-election. Clarke and Weeden are hold-overs. The election takes place in April, so those seeking office must buckle on their armor and get ready for the fray which promises to be spirited, full of ginger and some bitterness.

Exchange Club Meet; Convention Plans Discussed

Wednesday night the Menlo Park Exchange Club had a delightful supper at which all arrangements were consummated for the future entertainment of the members at meetings. The coming annual convention of the state organization was discussed and available candidates for delegates were looked over.

Dr. Hardy Writes From Chicago; Tells of the Cold

Doctor Ross Hardy writes from Chicago saying the weather is thirty below zero. The snow and sharp winds add to the cold. The doctor longs to be home in Sunny California, where the flowers always bloom and nowhere else are they half so fair.

Former Menlo Park Young Woman Passes Away in Redwood

Dorothy Frances Barsi, formerly Dorothy Lampard, passed away in Redwood City on Wednesday, following a lingering illness. She was a native of Menlo Park, aged 29 years. Since her marriage Mrs. Barsi has resided in San Francisco. Her father, Charles Lampard, is one of the officials of Cypress Lawn cemtery. Mrs. Barsi graduated from St. Joseph's parochial school some years ago. Her brother, Leslie Lampard, is connected with the P. G. & E. Company at Redwood City. Mrs. Barsi will be remerbered here as a bright and beautiful girl with many admirers. She is survived by her husband and a young son, father, mother and brother.

Menlo Young Man Applies For License To Wed

William Boyd Weir, young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Weir of Menlo Park, on Monday gave notice to the county clerk of Redwood City that he would apply for a marriage license to wed Joan Grace Rotchild of San Mateo. The license will probably be granted to the young couple today. Mr. Weir gave his age as 26. He is engaged in business with his father. He is an exemplary young man with splendid business ability. The blushing and attractive bride-to-be gave her age as 23 years.

By D. E. O'KEEFE

With pious resignation and after months of suffering Follis Buckley, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Buckley, closed her eyes in death late Wednesday evening, her pure white soul taking its flight to the realm beyond the skies. Surrounded by her loved ones and her spiritual counselor, Father Aycock, the young girl lapsed into a deep sleep, that sleep that knows no awakening.

Born eighteen years ago in Seattle she came to Menlo Park as a little girl. The latter years of her life were spent in the Convent and College of the Sacred Heart, where she leaves a brilliant career as a scholar. Graduating from the high school of the institution, she entered the college, majoring in philosophy and becoming proficient in her musical studies. Miss Buckley was a gifted student, showing proficiency and brilliancy in all her subjects. With these gifts she was also possessed with piety and a poise that was amazing. Those who knew her, loved her. She was the idol of her teachers, the joy and inspiration of her parents, brothers and sisters. The brilliant girl will be missed at her home and at the convent where she was idolized.

It is difficult to realize why one so beautiful, so gifted, should be snatched from life just when the threshold had been reached, just when the beauties of life were unfolding, like the frail flower that blooms sending forth its fragrance and beauty for a while then closing its delicate petals and fades, Miss Buckley bloomed to young womanhood, revealing the beauty of her character, the sincereity of her purpose and loftiness of her mind.

As the sun knows no night in the world, so the life of the soul knows no death. When a young and innocent life like hers is suddenly ended there is still great consolation for the parents and those who are left behind, especially for the parents when they remember that they have given back to God what belongs to Him, that they have given back to Him, blameless and pure the soul that was entrusted to them as a precious treasure and sacred charge. The soul of Follis has winged its way back to its creator from whom it came, clothed in the robe of innocence that she received in her baptism.

The deceased was faithful to the last degree in all the duties of an affectionate child and her religion. We need not grieve for the departure of a soul like hers, for we know that she is in the presence of her eternal Master. In heaven Follis will be watching and waiting for the happy coming of her loved ones.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning from the Church of the Nativity, where a requiem mass is to be celebrated at ten o'clock. Miss Buckley attended mass every morning and was a daily communicant

Congressmen Working On Fly Extermination

Quarantine Plan Is Faovred By A. M. Free

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22—(UP) — Employing eleventh hour generalship Congressman Arthur M. Free of the Eighth district, and other members of the California delegation today were revealed as having furthered the cause for continued efficient efforts to eradicate the Med iterranean fruit fly in Florida, thereby serving California in one of the most vital agricultural issues of the present session.

Facing apparently certain drastic reduction in committee of the $15,-300,000 appropriation asked by President Hoover and Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, members of the California delegation secured a ten days delay on the eve of a house finance committee hearing set for January 16, State Director of Agriculture G. H. Hecke was informed by wire today.

Congressman Swing, Crail, Lea, Evans and Free named as sub-committee of the California delegation, are arranging for the postponed hearing which will be held before the deficinecy sub-committee of the House Finance committee January 25. By that time it is expected that propaganda which enemies of quarantine have injected into the committee fight will have been separteed from facts, Washington reports said.

"Working with California representatives, friends of the quarantine secured postponement of this hearing at a time when continued efficient warfare on the most dangerous frutt pest known would have been imperiled," said Hecke. "Success of the federal-Florida eradication campaign which made remarkable strides last year following widespread appearance of the pest in Florida depends upon continuing the vigorous campaign which halted January 11 from lack of funds.

"No new infestation has been found in Florida since November due to the fact that the fly is dormant in cool weather, but with the return of spring, entomologists say danger of the pests's reapperance cannot be said to have passed until return of warm weather.

California agriculture, sympahtizing with Florida, realizes that best interests of that state lie in eradication rather than attempts to control. Economically, the nation can far more readily meet eradication cost now than later when the fly may have spread over a much larger area."

State Autos Now Liable For Damage

State Now Subject To Suit For Injuries

By ELWOOD SQUIRES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23— (UP)— Persons involved in automobile accidents in Redwood City when state owne dautomobiles or those driven by employees on state business are responsible for the crash may hold the state liable for damages.

A decision of the state supreme court to this effect has testified to the constitutionality of a law passed by the 1929 legislature.

Before the act was passed the state could not be sued for such damages except with its own permission. Upon enactment of the law, State Controller Ray L. Riley questioned its validity, contending principally that it violated a section of the constitution prohibiting the gift of public money.

To test the law A. R. Heron, director of the state department of finance, asked the supereme court for a writ of mandate to compel Riley to draw a warrant to pay $23,-747 in insurance premiums incurred in accordance with the act. The court ordered the writ issued, validating the liability law.

Three main contentions were made by Riley in refusing to draw the warrant requested by Heron. They were:

1. There was no expense appropriation for payment of insurance money from the emergency fund was premiums and that drawing such not legal.

2. Payment to individuals of damages awarded in suits would constitute a gift of public money.

3. Such payment would create class distinction, inasmuch as individuals injured by state agencies other than automobiles would have no grounds for suit.

Answering Riley's points, the court said:

1. The insurance premiums created a situation would justify their payment from the emergency funds.

2. That the payment to individuals had "no semblance to a gift of public money."

3. That "creation of class distinction" had "no merit" before the law.

A number of cases growing out of automobile accidents since the new law went into effect are now pending, Heron declared. He said that the state owns 2,500 motor vehicles and operates 1,000 other machines.

WOODSIDE

Mrs. Emma Andreen received a wire this week notifying her that she is a grandmother. Her son, Mayo, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, is the father of the newly arrived baby girl.

Mr. Norman Braley is at the Lane hospital in San Francisco for a period of rest and observation by the physicians.

Miss Mildred Fraser and Miss Cora Hosford, both of Woodside, were slightly injured last week when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a bridge bulkhead on the highway.

The Parent-Teacher Association will give a card party on this Friday night at their headquarters.

Cho Cho, known to many of the children of the state as the health clown, gave his interesting program to the children of the Woodside and Portola schools on Friday afternoon. Nearly a hundred children enjoyed his antics and absorbed some of his theory of healtful living.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is rebuilding its line along Albion avenue, putting in taller poles that will carry wires over the tops of the trees. And, believe me, it is no job for novices this raising a sixty-foot pole between the lines of high voltage wires already strung, with only an inch or two lee-way on each side of the pole. It is a job requiring skill and experience.

William Jackson, who seemed to be convalescing satisfactorily, suffered a relapse this week and had to be taken to the hospital in an ambulance. He is at the Palo Alto hospital until it is determined whether it is necessary for him to return to Letterman for treatment.

The Skyline boulevard is short on traffic these days being closed at each terminous. The northern end for six miles is receiving a six-inch layer of rock, which effectively discourages travel and the southern conection with Saratoga and Big Basin is closed for repairs, necessitated by the rains.

For some time the Woodside School has been gathering information regarding the history of its community and compiling the data obtained into a permanent record. In addition to what it has been able to learn from books on the early history of the county, it has asked as many of the old timers as it has been able to reach, to write of their recollections of the earlier days.

The most recent contribution has been received from George McArthur. The McArthur family was one of the most prominent in Woodside in the days of its lumbering industry. Here George went to school when he wasn't fishing and here he chopped wood for the fireplace, as he tells us, 'when his father was watching.' As a young man he got into the lumbering business and there is probably no one else who knows as much as he does regarding the old milling operations along the Sierra Moreno.

From him we learn the history of the various public halls of Woodside. Speaking of the lumbering days he says:

"Eentertainment was scarce and consisted mostly of dancing. The first dance hall was built on the main road on the property of Mrs. Miramontes, opposite what is now Mrs. Goularte's home, and was known as the 'starlight Hall,' but this hall was privately owned by Mrs. Miramontes, who was one of the Greer family, and it soon developed that any person not to the liking of the owner was ejected from this hall. This principle soon became abhorrent and a collection of funds was started and the 'Temperence Hall' which now stands at the foot of the mountains opposite the Whittell property, was built on land belonging to the Greers.

"After several years dissention arose over this hall and another collection of funds was gathered and the 'Independence Hall' was built on a 20-year lease of land from the Kelley family. At the expiration of this lease, a lot was donated by Mr. George Ross, to which place the hall was moved. This is where it still rests, on the west side of Albion avenue. During the life of the 'Starlight Hall' and 'Temperence Hall," the entire families went to these dances and its was no unusual sight to see a row of baby buggies with infants in them stored in the back room while the older folks enjoyed the dance."

George Allan, son of Scotty Allan of Alaska dog racing fame, who will drive a team of malemutes representing Tahoe Tavern, in the Tahoe-Sierra Dog Derby to be staged between Tahoe and Truckee January 31 and Feb. 1 and 2.

Rumors Heard At The State Capitol

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22—(UP) — Talk about your knock-down-and-drag-out gubernatorial campaigns ! It certainly looks as if California is going to have one this year, if preliminary sniping by the various candidates is any indication.

This years pre-election battle may be comparable only to that famous contest in 1894, when Morris M. Estee, Republican choice, went down to defeat at the hands of James H. Budd, democratic candidate.

In that torrid scrap everything was used but guns and bayonets. Budd was the last democrat ever to hold the position of governor.

State Controller Ray L. Riley, candidate for governor, laid down a preliminary barrage in southern California, accusing Governor Young of "little by little, robbing the state legislature of its authority."

Only twice, Riley charged, did the 1929 legislature actually "bolt the administration and pass important legislation over the known opposition of the governor's office."

"With an election year approaching," he continued, "dominant issues were deliberately sidetracked. Regardless of public neds, the governor must be spared embarrassment. Such, you will find, is the customary history of recent legislative sessions before campaign years."

Governor Young did a little campaigning on his own behalf in the southern part of the state, when he spoke in Long Beach, Los Angeles, Pomona and Pasadena. It was not as a candidate, however. He merely discussed state finances and reorganization, and said nothing of his forthcoming condidacy.

Meanwhile, the question worrying the political oracles is, What is Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco going to do? And District Attorney Buron R. Fitts? Friends of the governor insist that Fitt's entry would merely strengthen Young's chances by splitting up the southern vote.

But what of Jim Rolph? —well, if he gets in, say the observers, it will just be anybody's race. It is generally known that Rolph wants to be governor, but whether he wants it bad enough to throw his hat in the ring at this crucial time is problematical.

With the opening of registration, signing of iniative petitions is already underway throughout California. Two measures—one to repeal California's prohibition law, the Wright Act, and one proposing permanent registration—are outstandplanned.

It's generally admitted that the ing among the initiative measures unfortunate incident in Monterey, wherein a young matron, arrested on a liquor charge, gave birth to a child in a filthy jail cell, has stimulated interest in the proposed repeal measure.

Governor Young, upon his return from southern California, was handed a petition signed by hundreds of women, calling upon him and the 1931 legislature to "take immediate steps to repeal the Wright Act."

Spelling Bee To Be Feature At State Fair

Cash Prizes Offered To Best Spellers In State

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 23—(UP) — Every public school in San Mateo county was notified this week to start their preliminary spelling contests preparatory to the All-State Spelling Bee to be held in Sacramento August 30, the opening day of the California State Fair.

The notices, together with rules of the spelling bee, are being sent out by the educational department of the state fair, of which Ellis Franklin of Colfax is director in charge.

Prizes totaling $700 are to be offered this year for the grammar school and high school contests. The first prize winner in each contest will be awarded $100 and a gold medal, second prize, $75 and a silver medal, third prize, $50 and a bronze medal, and fourth prize, $25, and the next ten prizes, $10 each.

Only one high school and one elementary school contestant will be eligible to compete from each county, these contestants to be determined in the preliminary spelling matches held by the schools.

After winning the honors in their respective counties, the contestants will "spell it out" for state honors and the $700 prize money at this year's state fair.

"We hope every school in California will enter this contest," Franklin said. "No matter how large or how small it may be, it may produce the champion speller. We ask that each school send its best spellers to the county seat, where an elimination contest will be held, the winners to be sent to the state fair for the final contest.

"The state fair spelling bees of the last few years have been very helpful to the cause of education and have done much toward restoring the art of spelling, which, it is everywhere confessed, has been slumping badly."

Spanish Palace Celebrates

One of the most striking displays during the exposition at Barcelona, Spain, last year was the illumination of the national palace. Eight powerful beams of light gave the structure the effect of wearing a diadem. In the center section and flowing down from the palace were several cascades of water supplying a large fountain spraying water 200 feet high. The light beams were visible for several miles.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

By JOHN CLARENCE FUNK
A. M., Sc. D.

Director of Public Health Education, State of Pennsylvania.

Saving Time Is No Life Saver

DESPITE the fact that another car was coming around the corner, a corpulent man of sixty-five was determined to catch the one ahead. So he ran and fell and died! Just what use he intended to make of the three minutes he was trying to save will never be known. Dead men tell no tales!

What is going to happen when efficiency has been speeded up to the point where almost all time is saved, is a highly speculative problem. But it is quite certain that the time-saving mania will slay countless thousands before that mark has been even remotely reached. The basis of this prophecy is on the present-day facts.

Labor saving machines, dirigibles, airplanes, express trains, subways, the telegraph, the telephone and the radio are all great and useful inventions. But to employ such marvelous devices to crowd a former week's activity into one day, and then frantically rush for the five-fifteen train, is permitting business to interfere most dangerously with personal affairs.

Bodies, including hearts, were made in the Garden of Eden. And that spot was not noted for its killing strenuousness, if reports are to be credited. That there have been no new models constructed to meet today's devitalizing pace is the significant fact which is frequently and fatally overlooked by many.

Let machines do the hurrying for you. If they wear out under the stress and strain of modern demands others are obtainable. Bodies, on the other hand, are not replacable.

It would appear to be the height of wisdom always, and under all circumstances, to save yourself first, and save time last. Saving time by unwise hurry-flurry is no life-saver.

Much Ado!

THERE is much ado just at present in the magazines relative to the arbitrary employment age limit. One is advised that men past forty years of age are automatically barred by some concerns, and past forty-five is the outside limit in many others. Rather hard luck on these poor chaps, it seems. But business is business!

Well, that may be so. On the other hand, a man's usefulness is not so much determined by the passage of time as it is by his physiology. Take Henry Ford for example. Not to mention nearly all the Presidents of the United States.

The real test of a man's fitness is not how long he has lived but in what manner he has lived his life. It is this fact that to a marked extent, determines physical fitness for the man of middle age or older.

One cannot escape the fact that life has been startlingly speeded up in the last decade. Bodily requirements as a result have been even more disregarded than formerly was the case. Consequence—premature old age!

It does not take a specialist to note that the old "young" men of today have respected nature's law and have in this manner conserved their strength and life. And while there is no law against the burning of the candle at both ends; and no one will be sent to jail for sleeping too little, eating too much, exercising not at all and otherwise outraging the physical economy, just the same a penalty will be exacted for such foolishness. And it is quite likely to be a severe one.

Life in the world of today is such a miraculous adventure in itself that to get out of it before it is absolutely necessary, or to be only half alive while in it, is positively pathetic and criminal.

Prudence, thought and right living habits can conserve vigor and vitality in many instances—with old age, and even death itself, thereby definitely deferred.

Let there be much ado, but you do the doing—for health, happiness and long life!

Gastronomic Feat That Won Wager for Student

Gastronomic feats were not common among Scottish students of a past decade; they were rather famed for the frugality of their meals. It comes, therefore, as something of a novelty to learn of the wonderful eating prowess of a student of St. Andrews university. This student wagered that he could, at one sitting, consume one pound's ($5) worth of food. The wager was accepted, and, as a result, a small party of undergraduates entered a local restaurant. The one with the prodigious appetite seated himself at a table and commenced his attack. The conditions of the wager were that if he failed to eat one pound's worth of food he had to foot the bill himself, but if he succeeded the bill would be met by his colleagues. Having got right set to, as it were, the hungry one ate his way through five large helpings of fried sole, price ten shillings ($2.50) and fifteen helpings of tinned pears, price ten shillings ($2.50). Then, on the top of all these courses, he had—nothing more to eat, but a full round of the golf course!

Lower Animals Smell Fear

Wild animals smell fear in human beings; not merely sense it, but smell it actually . . . for man's glands, acting from the brain, give forth certain excretions caused by this state of fear; animals having the advantage of this information—attack, writes I. G. Holcrot.

"Flour" From Dried Codfish

Ice Hurdle on Trail of the Puck

Arthur Williams, right wing of the Amherst college hockey team, stages a sensational leap over George Pfaff, goalkeeper of the Speculator team, in an exciting match on the rink. The referee is Denton Mullen. Crowds of winter sports enthusiasts from all parts of the country enjoy the skating and skiing, in addition to watching the collegiate competition.

Veteran Pitcher Closes His Long Diamond Career

Harry Krause, forty-one years old, who has been southpawing his way to fame in organized baseball, both major and minor, for 21 years, has been given his unconditional release by the Mission club of the Pacific Coast league. Krause said after announcement of his release was made that he never expects to pitch again but hopes to find a position somewhere as coach.

Krause became famous when he won 10 straight games for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1909, his first year in the majors. He pitched three years for Connie Mack and finished the 1912 season with Toledo of the American association. Then he was with Portland for three years, nine years with Oakland and has been there since 1927.

Krause finished his first year with the Missions near the top of the successful pitcher list; in 1928 he won 15 and lost 10; but last year the going was tough and he won seven and lost nine.

Two Barrels of Oysters Buy Release of Pitcher

The Dallas baseball club sold one of its pitchers for two barrels of oysters.

"Oyster Joe" Martina, former Washington Nat pitcher and old-time Texas and Southern leaguer, was offered his release for a barrel of oysters. Dallas sports writers, however, said Joe was worth two barrels.

So the two barrels arrived in Dallas from Martina's oyster house in New Orleans and his release was forwarded.

The sports writers got one barrel.

Colonel Hammond, owner of the New York Rangers, of the National Hockey league and a West Point graduate, has donated a cup valued at $675 for a game to be played annually between the hockey teams of the Kent school, of Kent, Conn., and the Morristown prep school, of Morristown, N. J.

The receipts of the game are to provide scholarships for English boys at Kent school.

Sports at Notre Dame

The University of Notre Dame has watched its greatest athletic year pass into history, anticipating an even greater one. A football team that ranked second to none in the country, basketball, baseball and track teams that rated among the leaders; beginning of work on a new stadium and the completion of a nine-hole golf course on the campus itself, are some of the reasons why the Irish may call it a "Happy Old Year" and look forward with hopes for another.

Game for Missouri

Although Washington university and the University of Missouri only signed a one-year football contract last year, the elevens of the state's two largest schools undoubtedly will meet again next year. Arthur Ellers, business manager of athletics at Washington university, asserted that while no negotiations had been started for a game in 1930, he soon would arrange for the 1930 football date.

Sport Notes

Boston college has quit ice hockey. No reason was given in the announcement.

• • •

William Clarkson, pitcher, has been purchased by Fort Worth of the Texas league from the Boston Braves.

• • •

Turfmen estimate the sales of racers bred by the late John E. Madden, America's foremost breeder, totaled nearly $1,000,000.

• • •

Joe Judge, veteran first sacker of the Washington club, will be acting manager of the Nats any time Walter Johnson is absent.

• • •

Golf caddies under fourteen years of age are to be permitted to work in Pennsylvania without interference of the child labor law.

• • •

Ralph Jones, for ten years football coach of the Lake Forest academy team, has signed to coach the Chicago Bears, professional eleven.

• • •

The most amazing of all of Grover Cleveland Alexander's pitching feats came in 1915, when he won 16 shutout games in the National league.

• • •

George Blackerby, who comes back to Chicago White Sox for another trial, hit three doubles in a game four times while with Waco, last season.

• • •

It costs about $7 a day to maintain the average race horse, or about $2,500 a year, which is more than the average American family has to live on.

• • •

The Crimson Bulldogs of McKeesport, Pa., compiled an unusual record in independent football ranks the past season. They were undefeated and unscored on.

• • •

Peter the Great, famous trotting sire who has been dead more than six years, gave 660 standard performers to the harness racing sport, far in excess of any other thoroughbred.

• • •

Fishing, tennis and mystery plays are Lou Gehrig's hobbies; fishing on the rough wintry seas off Long Island being his long suit prior to this winter when he went to work in a brokerage office.

• • •

Construction work on the enlarging of the Los Angeles coliseum, scene of the 1932 Olympic games track and field sports, will be started soon. The California intercollegiate sports will be held at Berkeley (Calif.) Bears' home field, May 17.

Temple Cage Champ

Alexander Kilkuskie, member of the Temple university freshman basketball team who holds a record for tossing foul goals having successfully netted 117 of 120 tries. He tied with Susumu Takao of San Francisco in last year's competition, but won with a 59 out of a possible 60 in the shootoff. The Temple "Owls" team is considered one of the strongest in the East this year.

Bob McAllister Out

In declining an invitation to meet Jack Elder, Notre Dame sprinter, in the sprint series at the Brooklyn college meet, Bob McAllister, New York "Flying Cop," announced that he had definitely retired from competition. On three previous occasions McAllister has retired, only to spring sensational comebacks. Twice he returned to the track to win the Olympic series at the Brooklyn college games, in which games he has been unusually successful.

NEW GOLF BALL IS AID TO DUFFER

Bigger, Lighter and Better for Average Player.

Most of the howling that you hear about the new standard golf ball comes from the golfers whom the new ball will assist to play better golf than they ever thought of playing before, if they can only forget they are using a new ball. It is bigger and lighter and better for the average golfer and the plain or 110-variety of duffer.

The experts and the champions are the ones who will have to do some calculating, and brush up on a few shots, and learn a bit more about play in the wind before their scores sink down to par, and below.

Briefly, the new standard ball, already on the market, but not to become official for us in U. S. G. A. championships until January 1, 1931, is 1.68 inches in diameter and 1.55 ounces in weight, where the present standard is 1.62 in both particulars.

Football fans should feel thankful for the break that came between Capt. John McEwan, coach, and the University of Oregon, according to C. M. Gibbs of the Baltimore Sun. It brought a new angle to light that few football fans suspected existed in present-day gridiron activities.

The reasons for McEwan's loss of favor at Oregon are not important. His explanation of the only trouble he ever had as coach is:

It will be remembered that he claimed the only difficulty he experienced was when he and the president of the university disagreed upon which substitute to send into the game at critical moments.

The idea of the president of a university sitting on the bench and arguing with the coach over the running of the team adds a touch of color to the fall pastime.

This assertion of McEwan's, if true, indicates that it may not be long before college presidents, urged on by the financial and other aspects, will be taking over more and more the duties of the coach.

Western league umpires may travel from city to city in automobiles next season. President Dale Gear will ask club owners to purchase automobiles for officials' use in an attempt to cut down league expenses.

The baseball fans of the Pacific coast are assured a real fight next summer because the league has put up $15,000 to fight for.

The season in 1930 will be split. If one club wins both the first half and the second half it will receive $7,500 to be divided among the players. The second place club will receive $3,500; third, $2,500, and the fourth place, $1,500.

If one club wins the first and another the second they'll fight it out for $10,000—the winner getting $6,000. The third place club would then receive $3,000 and the fourth place $2,000.

Orval Martin, captain of Purdue's track and cross-country teams, has a most unusual victory record in collegiate competition. Martin never has been defeated in a conference championship track meet, winning five championships in four meets. He holds the conference indoor records for both the mile and half-mile, and in addition won both the mile and the half-mile in the outdoor championships last spring.

National league managers are interested chiefly in the problem of preventing the Chicago Cubs from repeating their 1929 pennant victory.

Manager Joe McCarthy and owner William Wrigley have made a serious effort to strengthen any weak spots in the Cubs' lineup and have done more to improve their club, since the close of the 1929 season, than any rival owner has done to better his.

Purchase of Lynn Nelson and Malcolm Moss, leading pitchers of the American association, added efficiency to the Cubs' already strong pitching staff and the purchase of Lester Bell from Boston, is expected to fill satisfactorily the weakest position on the Cub team—third base.

Professional Golfers association has raised the dues to $50 a year, which will make available an annual income of $60,000. The association proposes to employ a business administrator, three district organizers and clerical help in order to build up the organization.

The University of Texas and the University of Missouri have agreed to a four-year series of football games beginning in 1931.

The first game would be played at Austin, Texas, October 3, 1931, and the second at Columbia, Mo., October 10, 1932.

The 1932 Olympic games are two years and more away but already there are indications that the world's sports show will play to the biggest crowds in its history and attract the greatest number of athletes.

When it was announced the Olympic games would go to Los Angeles other countries gloomily predicted the great distance would bar many from competing. But officials already have word that the entries will outnumber those in any previous meet. The crowds are assured, for California turns out for track and field more enthusiastically than does any other part of the world.

Tom Mills, lately of Notre Dame's coaching staff, succeeds Lou Little at Georgetown not only as football coach, but director of athletics. He said he would coach only football, all his contract calls for, though it had been thought he would take active charge also of baseball and basketball, in which he excelled as a coach at Notre Dame.

Mills also was successful in boxing and wrestling.

All children are subject to little upsets. They come at unexpected times. They seem twice as serious in the dead of night. But there's one form of comfort on which a mother can always rely; good old Castoria. This pure vegetable preparation can't harm the tiniest infant. Yet mild as it is, it soothes a restless, fretful baby like nothing else. Its quick relief soon sees the youngster comfortable once more, back to sleep. Even an attack of colic, or diarrhea, yields to the soothing influence of Castoria.

Keep Castoria in mind, and keep a bottle in the house—always. Give a few drops to any child whose tongue is coated, or whose breath is bad. Continue with Castoria until the child is grown! Every drugstore has Castoria; the genuine has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

Consider Possible Growth

The future development of the district and consequent increase or decrease in the value of his property should not be overlooked by the prospective buyer. Though he may not be building for an investment, the wise man considers carefully the financial end of the problem.

How A College Athlete Keeps Himself Well

Robert O. Deming
fancy diver on Colgate University Swimming Team.

BOB DEMING of Colgate, claims that a sensible method of health has really made life a pleasure for him. Mr. Deming writes that at first he could not believe this simple thing was the cause of his buoyant spirits. Finally, however, he had to admit that it was Nujol which was keeping him well, besides giving him, as he says, "five times the vitality."

"Believe me," he says "having free and regular bodily elimination makes all the difference in the world to a diver as well as to any other athlete. I can't afford to be nervous, sluggish, or depressed while diving. It just isn't done! I would like to urge any one, whether they think they are in good health or not, to give Nujol a try-out. It certainly can't do any harm, and I'll bet it would make them feel a hundred per cent better. It's worth trying!"

Mr. Deming has just about told the whole story. He is right in believing that Nujol contains no drugs, no medicines of any kind. It is tasteless and colorless as pure water. It is simply harmless internal lubrication, which your body needs as much as any other machine. Regularly as clock work, Nujol cleans out of your body those poisons which we all have, and which make us low in our minds, tired, headachy, and below par.

The way for you to find out how much better Nujol will make you feel is to try it for a few days. You can get a bottle in a sealed package at any drug store. It costs only a few cents, but it makes you feel like a million dollars. Do you know how many thousands of people keep themselves well and happy just by using Nujol? Why shouldn't you feel well all the time? You can! Get yourself a bottle of Nujol today!

Any COLD

That cold may lead to something serious, if neglected. The time to do something for it is now. Don't wait until it develops into bronchitis. Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin as soon as you feel a cold coming on. Or as soon as possible after it starts. Bayer Aspirin will head off or relieve the aching and feverish feeling—will stop the headache. And if your throat is affected, dissolve two or three tablets in a quarter-glassful of warm water, and gargle. This quickly soothes a sore throat and reduces inflammation and infection. Read proven directions for neuralgia, for rheumatism and other aches and pains. Genuine Bayer Aspirin is harmless to the heart.

Autos Carried Through Snow Over Railway

Balking the snow man's effort to make the Tahoe summit impassable for motorists this winter, the automobile baggage car service of the Southern Pacific Company is again in full operation between Sacramento and Reno, it was announced this week.

Inaugurated as an experiment last winter, the so-called "snow-ferry" won instant popularity. Hundreds of automobiles were transported over the mountain summit, resulting in numerous requests for resumption of the service this winter.

The motorist using the automobile baggage car service has only to drive his machine aboard either at Reno or Sacramento to have it carried quickly and safely through the snow country. Automobiles are driven into the end-door baggage cars on inclined steel runways.

This service is provided on Southern Pacific's train "Sierra" leaving Sacramento at 11:05 a. m. daily and arriving in Reno at 5:55 p. m. of the same day. On the westbound trip, the auto baggage car service is given out of Reno at 9:10 p. m., reaching Sacramento at 3:40 a. m., acording to announcement by the company.

"Flight" Made With Aid Of Government

"Flight," the Columbia all-talking aviation sensation coming to the Sequoia Theatre on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, January 28, 29 and 30, was made wth the cooperation of government officials in Washington. Captain Francis E. Pierce of the United States Marine Corps was detailed to supervise war scenes on the production. Colonel Harry Lay, temporarily in charge of the Marine Base at San Diego, was also actively engaged in the direction of the battle sequences.

In commenting on the work done in San Diego, army officials have stated that the machine gun firing, the aerial acton and the manoeuvers of the soldiers are true to actual warfare. All the machine guns and other artillery were copies from what was used in the recent Mexican rebellion ,and the planes are accurate deplicates of those used in the government Marine Base.

Before a single scene had been made, a crew of technical men under the supervision of United States Marine officers were sent to San Diego to prepare the battle ground The fort used by the marines in the picture is an exact duplicate of the ose that played an important part in the Mexican revolution.

Jack Holt, Ralph Graves and Director Frank R. Capro, the triumvirate that made "Submarine," the talk of the nation, were re-united for this producton.

On Thursday evening as an added attraction at the Sequoia Theatre the San Mateo County Boy Scout Band under the direction of Eugene Brose will be presented at 8:45 and give a concert on the stage of the theatre.
